

WHO WE ARE

Woman-owned small business specializing in training that performs under operational pressure. Led by active U.S. Navy Reserve Officer with MPhil in Theoretical & Applied Linguistics from the University of Cambridge.

We apply cognitive science principles proven in high-stakes language training to defense training design—achieving 50% improvement in workplace application and 3x better long-term knowledge retention across 450,000+ global learners.

Advantage of a Linguistics-Based Approach

Most training fails because traditional content principles overlook how adults actually learn complex information. We solve this by applying the cognitive science of language acquisition—our content-agnostic methodology—to technical domains, accelerating the path to rapid, effective mastery.

OUR 4E LEARNING ARCHITECTURE™

- EXTRACT: Systematic knowledge capture from SMEs using protocols proven across DoD and State Dept
- ENGINEER: Transform content using working memory principles from linguistics and UX/UI design
- EMBED: Practice scenarios matching operational cognitive demands and pressure conditions
- EVALUATE: Pilot testing with actual learners validates effectiveness before deployment
